

PaleoSun

Smart Website Design & Development

PaleoSun to Host Website Insight:

A Social Event for Obtaining Professional Website Advice

Asheville, NC - January 6, 2009 - PaleoSun, a web design and development firm, plans to bring in the new year by giving back to the community through their new Website Insight event. On January 23rd from 5pm to 8pm PaleoSun will be opening their office to the public to answer questions about the web design process, provide advice on creating a website, provide advice on improving an existing website, and share tips on internet marketing. Gary Reckard, lead database developer comments "My friends and family ask me website questions all the time, but not everyone has a friend or family member that is knowledgeable about web design. We see this as an opportunity to lend a helping hand to those who are interested in making the most of their website but don't have a resource for asking basic questions."

PaleoSun will be furnishing this fun and casual event with free food, music and drinks. This event is free and open to the public.

The PaleoSun offices are in the Park Place Building at the corner of Charlotte Street and the 240E on ramp. For more information about the event or to RSVP please visit the invitation site: <http://paleosun.com/website-insight>

About PaleoSun

PaleoSun specializes in creating custom tailored websites that meet the specific needs of businesses and individuals. Through good design and well written code, PaleoSun is able to provide clients with websites that engage their users while also appealing to search engines.

For more information please visit <http://www.paleosun.com>
